People are naturally compelled to ask questions of identity: Who am I? What am I worth? Why am I here? The answers culture offers only lead to more questions. To properly answer all these questions, we need to look all the way back to the beginning—to our creation—and see that all people are made in the image of God.

Having a well-rounded view of the imago Dei will help us better understand ourselves, God, and the restoring work of salvation that comes to us through Jesus Christ. We can understand what God intended the imago Dei to be, how sin corrupted it, and how Jesus restores it through the power of the cross and the indwelling presence of the Holy Spirit.

Published by The Gospel Coalition in partnership with LifeWay, Imago Dei is a new group study by Mike Cosper that examines the image of God biblically within the grand narrative of Scripture, relationally as it applies to ourselves and others, and missionally in our service to others and in our obedience to the Great Commission.

*Introducing 2 new Bible studies coming this spring****

written by Pastor Bobby Allen

Singular Focus

There can be stigmas attached to being single. Being single can at times feel like a disease that only marriage can cure. It can feel like an empty gap of time between young adulthood and marriage, between a broken relationship and finding love again, and maybe even between the death of a spouse and your own death. The Bible paints a different picture. The Bible portrays being single as an opportunity!

Singular Focus is a 6 week Bible study that will help guide Christian singles through overcoming false mindsets about being single, avoiding 4 common traps that single Christians can fall into, and learning how to thrive as a single Christian. Whether you are single because you haven't found the right person, been divorced, or are widowed, whether you are a single parent or have just entered adulthood, this study will help you to see that why you are single is less important than what you do while you are single.

How to Lose a Fight

It's been said that marriage is about compromise. Compromise is defined as reaching an agreement by mutual concessions. In simpler terms, it's about two people meeting in the middle. The apostle Paul compared a marital relationship to Christ's relationship with the church. If that represents the perfect standard of marriage, than meeting in the middle is not enough. Christ did not meet us in the middle, He came all the way. The King of Kings humbly taking on flesh and giving His life for us is what separates Christianity from any other religion. Compromise works great for keeping a marriage together and settling disputes, but isn't marriage supposed to be more than just staying together? Isn't marriage supposed to be more than just avoiding divorce?

How to Lose a Fight is a 6 week Bible study for married couples that shows that compromise is just the starting point. This study will guide couples from just meeting in the middle to going all the way. Marriage is a gift from God that is intended to flourish, but it can only flourish if we do it His way!
